Citizens Asked To Organize

A committee headed by Admiral C. W. Fisher is issuing a call to citizens to "unite without delay for concerted action to preserve the Carmel we all so very much desire."

"The explosive population growth in adjacent areas, increased number of automobiles, real estate subdivisions nearby, and business interests which look upon our village primarily as a place to make money," are listed as the forces which threaten the residential nature of the community.

"To counteract these forces and to protect the best interests of the residents of Carmel and its environs, a specific organization is needed to provide representation at public meetings, to be a source of information for its members, and to crystallize and voice public opinion," the committee states in a letter to be sent out Monday.

Interested citizens are invited to join as paying or time-contributing members, if they agree with the committee's objectives, stated above, which are to be accomplished by the steps quoted below:

Adopt a Master Plan, before December 31, 1958, which will express our desires for the future of Carmel.

New Adult Classes, And New Locations For Old Favorites

On September 15, adults as well as children will again start to school. In the past many Carmel adults have found their way to classes at Sunset School. However, since the room arrangements at the high school are more adequate for adult students, this term, people interested in such subjects as languages, citizenship, poetry writing, English for new Americans, and driver training will find these classes offered at the high school.

With Tulare and Carmel School Districts joining with Carmel, these schools are now available for adult classes. Life and Still Life Drawing is being taught by Feg Murray at the Tulare school on Tuesday and Thursday evenings. Mr. Murray is one of the two new staff members of the adult school. The other is Dick Lawitzke who will teach Driver Education. He replaces Alan Aldwell who is on sabbatical leave to attend Oxford University.

Music Appreciation is being offered again. The course promises to be very interesting with the use of the most modern audio-visual equipment. The scores will be projected on the screen and special high fidelity sound equipment will be used to assure perfect reproduction. This class will be taught by Mr. John Farr on Wednesday nights at the high school music room.

The complete schedule of classes can be found on page four of this issue.

Additional information may be obtained by calling the adult school office which has been moved to the high school afternoons and evenings Monday through Thursday nights, phone MA 4-6483.

The Theatrical Zemachs Misplaced A Piece Of Scenery Here 23 Years Ago, Would Like Help Finding It

BY RAYLYN PENNEY

When Benjamin Zemach was very young, he became a member of the famed Habima Theatre by a fluke of the same sort that has launched the career of many an actor.

One of the regular Habima players turned up missing for a performance and the director, casting around in the emergency for someone who could speak a few lines of Hebrew, decided, with many misgivings on Benjamin. In this case the director was Zemach's eldest brother, Nahum Zemach, who had found the courage to organize the troupe in Moscow during World War I and to steer it through its dim beginnings when there were occasionally more people on stage than in the audience.

"Those were the years of hunger and dead horses in the streets," Benjamin recalls, "and of bags of flour and meal strung from the ceiling so the rats couldn't get at them before we did. But the rats got hungrier and more clever and took leaps at the bags."

Prior to the theater venture, Nahum had supported his eight younger brothers and sisters by giving language lessons from house to house.

After the family moved to Moscow, from their small Ukrainian village near Bialystock, Nahum began organizing with a nucleus group of 12 actors the first serious theater in the Hebrew language, which, except for religious purposes, was then considered by many to be as defunct as Sanskrit and classical Greek.

The Habima, which works with Jewish historical, biblical and mythological themes in dance, pantomime and drama, caught the interest and attention of the greatest portions almost from the start.

Both Stanislavsky and Vachtangov, also a famous director and one of the early movie theorists, gave help to Habima in the early days. When after a year of study the troupe finally opened in their small studio in 1918, their audience included a number of famous Muscovites of that era, among them Maxim Gorki.

The group was later in wide demand in Russia and Europe, and made its United States debut in 1917. (Among patrons in some of the early New World audiences, it turns out, was another Ukrainian (Continued on Page Three)

Planners Approve C-2 Sponsored Motel Ordinance

Planning commissioners yesterday modified and unanimously sent to the city council for consideration the multiple dwelling (motel) building control amendment suggested by the C-2 Property Owners Association. They ignored the two 60-40 council proposed amendments, each containing a grandfather clause.

During the public hearing preceding this action, Admiral C. W. Fisher, representing the Society for the Conservation and Preservation of Carmel, spoke in favor of the C-2 Property Owners' amendment and was supported by Admiral R. W. Hayler. Mrs. Patricia Hall favored the 60-40 variant asking for 1,000 square feet of land per multiple dwelling unit and containing the grandfather (Continued on Page Fourteen)

Color Slides Are Evidence In Inquest

Color slides of the abrasions found on the body of Mrs. Helen Edgren will be projected at the inquest to be held at 10:00 o'clock tomorrow morning in Carmel City Hall.

Absence of blood and condition of the cuts indicates that they were received some time before her death, Carmel police believe.

Shortly after Mrs. Edgren's body was found on August 25 in the bedroom of her home at Torres and Ninth, a towel knotted around her neck, Deputy Coroner Robert Wallace announced to the San Francisco newspapers that she had been murdered.

Dr. Osman Hull's autopsy report stated that the 83 year old widow's death was caused by asphyxiation and that she had a broken seventh rib on the right side. An abrasion over the right eye and two abrasions on the right arm just below the elbow were assumed to have been caused in a struggle with an assailant. Mrs. Edgren lived alone, was frail, partially blind, and known to carry fairly large amounts of cash about town in her purse.

But Carmel police could find no indication that a struggle had taken place or that the house had been ransacked, and there was about $20 cash in her purse, nearby. Later, over $900 was found in a sewing basket in her bedroom closet.

Chief Clyde Klaumann hesitated to accept Deputy Coroner Wallace's assumption of homicide, but when the Pine Cone called Coroner Christopher Hill on August 27 to inquire about an inquest, Hill stated:

"There is no need of an inquest. You only have an inquest when there is a question of whether or not a crime has been committed. The district attorney and the Carmel Police are satisfied that this is homicide."

Chief Klaumann sought the assistance of experts from the state bureau of criminal identification and investigation at Sacramento.

As a result of a week's investigation of the premises by the state experts, and their examination of evidence in their laboratories, a conference was called last Friday of District Attorney Barnes, Coroner Hill, the Carmel police and the state investigators, and Hill called an inquest for tomorrow.

Witnesses scheduled to appear are: Police Chief Clyde Klaumann, Harry Cooper, C. I. I. investigator; Roger Greene, C. I. I. laboratory technician; Lt. Earll Wermuth; Sgt. William Ellis, Dr. Osman Hull; Photographer Arthur McEwen, Mrs. Mary Gould, a friend of Mrs. Edgren who found the body; Robert Edgren, Mrs. Edgren's son, a psychology professor at Mills College; Mrs. Jeanne Elsen and Arthur Bowen who saw Mrs. Edgren alive on August 24, and Mrs. Edward Coates, a neighbor. School Opens Monday In 7 Carmel District Schools, Ready Or Not

The seven schools in the Carmel Unified School District, the High School, Sunset, Woods, River, Tulare, Carmelo and Bay Cooperative Nursery, open on Monday morning.

All High School students report at 8:00 o'clock for an orientation assembly in the gymnasium, go to class meetings to receive programs, and then follow through a regular day's schedule in shortened periods. The cafeteria will not be in operation this semester but milk will be available. It is recommended that students bring their lunches on opening day as the noon break of the shortened day will not allow time for returning home or going elsewhere to eat.

Five wooden buildings, loaned by the Army, have been set up on the parking lot west of the girls' playfield and will be used for classes until new classroom construction is completed after Christmas. Framing of new classrooms and a laboratory has commenced and first work on the new shop begins next week.

Nine new teachers are on the High School faculty.

Sunset School this year will only have sixth, seventh and eighth grades. Sixth graders go to school on Monday at 9:00 o'clock and end their day at 3:30.

Seventh and eighth graders, on a junior high school schedule, report at Sunset at 8:20 o'clock on Monday morning and leave school at 3:20 in the afternoon. Names of pupils will be posted on the outside of classroom doors as is traditional at Sunset. Lunch will be served in the cafeteria which, this summer, has been equipped with a new stove and a new refrigerator.

For the first time in ten years, the library will not be used also as a classroom. Shop, music and art rooms are now located in the blue bungalows at the south end of the Sunset grounds. No home economics will be taught this year. A new science room has been furnished with demonstration and experimental equipment. There are three new teachers: Neil Smith from Fort Ord School and Harvey Bennett from the Ojai school system, teaching sixth grades, and Bruce Duncan, who received his A.B. and M.A. degree from San Francisco State College and has just finished Army service, teaching a seventh grade. SATURDAY AFTERNOON WORKOUT FOR CARMEL HIGH GRIDDERS

With the annual CCAL Football Jamboree only one week away, the Carmel High football squad is slated for an overtime workout this Saturday afternoon in order to get in the required fifteen days practice before participating in inter-school competition. For the past two weeks ninety candidates have been going through their paces in two-hour sessions devoted primarily to fundamentals of blocking and tackling. Early observations seem to indicate the Padre varsity will lack the depth of the 1957 championship gang but the current edition will have a hard-nosed defensive line, good power in the starting backfield, and a passing attack superior to last year's. Cim Conway, veteran Padre quarterback should be the best passer in the CCAL this season and he has good support from Craig Smith and Russ Wise. Two of the best looking flankmen in Carmel High's history, Phil White and Bill Hicks, give the aerial potential a big boost. A trio of glue-fingered backs, Dennis Peavey, Bud Conroy, and Ronnie Faia serves to widen the passing scope.

Coach Fred Rainer's 60-man junior-varsity squad doesn't have the size of the championship 1957 unit but the line is much swifter and the backs run with more power. As it is with the varsity, Rainer's Ramblers will also lack the depth exhibited by last year's squad. When lined up for the first signal drill of the season, the jayvees were manned by starters Doyle Clayton and Toby Edson, ends; Jim Cole and Ron Adams, backs; Fred Bucher and Roger Diefendorf, guards; Paul Rice, center; Frank Mayo, quarterback; David Hanson, and Mike Draper, halfbacks; and Bill Coleman, fullback.

MAL BURDIS YOUTH CENTER PING-PONG CHAMP

The hotly-contested Keith McKenzie Memorial Table Tennis Tournament was again tucked away by defending champion Mal Burdis as the deft-stroking right-hander downed tenacious Fritz Scheffer, 19-21, 21-18, and 21-16. Scheffer worked his way to a shot at the defending champion by downing Andy Elliott and George Crispo in the semi-final matches. Crispo outstroked Elliott to cop third place honors. In the consolation bracket, Frank Bucher clipped Mike O'Shea, 21-10 and 21-11, to take home the gold cup.

Tournament action at the Youth Center this week features the Double Table Tennis Tournament which puts a premium on team play and a strong pair of legs.

CLEAT MARKS

First game-type grid action of the current season is slated for the Monterey Peninsula College stadium this Saturday night when the Lobos stage their annual intrasquad at 8:00 o'clock. With all the players fighting for one of the starting spots, this intrasquad game is fiercely contested and the contact is strictly hard-leather. Ex-Padres Joe Mason, Ted Smith, Art Wilkerson, and Ted Balestreri will be making their MPC football debut in this intrasquad game.

New coaches in the CCAL B-League are Charley Howell, Pacific Grove, who moves up from the Breaker junior-varsity to try his hand as head mentor. Charley has been in the league for eight years and knows his way around the eight-team circuit. The King City Mustangs will introduce head coach Ernie Piper to CCAL coaching ranks. A single-wing man, Piper will be welcomed by fans who are partial to the knock-'em-down and run-over-them type of football. Roland Dickie, assistant to Mike McCormack last year, remains as first lieutenant for Piper.

Off for the grid wars at Humboldt State College are ex-Padres Andy Gray and Parker Pollock. Pollock will make a bid for the center position with Phil Sarboe's Lumberjacks while Gray will go for one of the halfback slots. Clyde Klummann is also returning to Humboldt but will forego football for a shot at some basketball action. The draw has been made for the September 19 CCAL Football Jamboree and several B-division schools will be conspicuous by their absence. Hollister, Gilroy, and Live Oak players are occupied with the prune harvest at this time of the year and are short on practice. The Carmel Padres drew King City Mustangs in a 7:30 'game'. Since the Padres meet King City in their opening game of the season, the brief encounter with the Mustangs will be a prelude to the real thing on October 4.

A look at Santa Cruz High's first three opponents, Burlingame, Berkeley, and Bellarmine is a tip-off that Coach Larry Semmling is high on the Cardinals this season. All three schools are touted to win their leagues; they were all high up on the Northern California ratings last year. Gilroy High is the big choice to win the B-division flag with Gonzales, Carmel, Hollister, and King City given a chance to slip in.

MERCHANT SOFTBALL TEAM AT ESCALON SATURDAY

The busy Carmel Merchant softball team winds up the 1958 season this Saturday night at Escalon in a benefit game for the new Escalon Memorial Hospital. The Merchants have bumped into the classy Escalon aggregation twice before this season and have finished on the short end of both games. Escalon is rated the top team in the San Joaquin Valley and this area is a hot bed of softball. The Escalon Merchants took the runner-up spot in the recent State Tournament, losing only to Sacramento in a 2-0 thriller. Our local Merchants have enjoyed a successful season, finishing second in the Peninsula League and winning the pre-season tournament in Pacific Grove.

FARISH MAKES HOLE-IN-ONE

Zemachs Misplaced A Piece Of Scenery Here 23 Years Ago

lad, Ephraim Doner, now of Carmel Highlands. Nostalgic for both home and native tongue, Doner would sit through a dozen nights of The Golem, or whatever was being presented, with never waning enthusiasm.)

The whole fascinating history of Habima came to light again recently when Benjamin Zemach and his wife, actress Elizabeth Lynn, stayed for a week in the Alan Marcus home on Corona Way in Carmel Highlands while writer Marcus was in Hollywood. They were frequent guests of their neighbors, the Doners, during their stay.

Now a resident of Los Angeles, Mr. Zemach is head of the theater arts department of the University of Judaism, West Coast branch of the Jewish Theological Seminary of America, as well as a career director, dancer and choreographer.

In addition to Vachtangov and Stanislavsky, he studied drama under Mechdelov and dance at Dalcroze Institute and with Tchernetska, Wigman and Martha Graham.

Director of many plays and dance productions in New York, California and Canada, he went two years ago to Israel to stage Wilder's Skin of Our Teeth, and has been dialogue and dance director at RKO and Universal Studios.

He is now preparing for a September 21 production in the Hollywood Bowl to commemorate the 80th birthday of Carl Sandburg. (No, Sept. 21 is not Sandburg's birth date. It was Jan. 6.)

Among plays, musicals and ballets he has directed are Peer Gynt, Desire Under the Elms, The Witch, The Overcoat, Salome, Macbeth, The New Haggada, Natural Man, The Devil in Boston and The Victory Ball.

Max Reinhardt once wrote of Zemach's "deep understanding, outspoken creative originality, and tirelessness."

Twenty-three years ago he danced in Carmel at the Denny-Watrous Gallery with a troupe of five or six.

Miss Lynn, who teaches drama, has played many prominent stage roles including Cordelia to Sam Jaffe's Lear in New York and in Salome and The Golem directed by James Light. She acted in The Eternal Road while her husband did the choreography and played in Lower Depths and The Sky Moved. For a time she taught drama at the New School for Social Research in New York.

At the Doner's home the other night, the Zemachs remembered that they have misplaced a piece of scenery in their 23 years' absence from the Peninsula.

They were not, for a change concerned with stage scenery, but the real kind. "We recall standing on a rock promontory over a place where the waves washed and back-washed underneath the rock so that you could look down through and see the water," Miss Lynn explained. "Beautiful."

They had an impression it was on Point Lobos somewhere but they searched around there and couldn't find it.

Things change in almost a quarter century, of course. The rock may have toppled into the sea by now. But in case it has not, and anyone can steer them back to it, they'll be grateful, they say.

PUREBRED PUPPY SHOW

A purebred puppy show will be held on Sunday at the Monterey County Fairgrounds under the sponsorship of the Salinas Valley Kennel Club. Mrs. Derek Rayne will judge the best in show. Entries will be taken at the Fairgrounds from 10:00 o'clock in the morning until noon. Judging starts at 1:00 o'clock. There is no admission charge but an entry fee for puppies is required. Further information may be obtained from Mrs. Art Carpenter, MA 4-4429.

Studio Rehearsing New Original For Sept. 19 Opening

The Studio Theatre in Carmel is rehearsing an original farce comedy by Jerry DeBono, The Psyche of Diane O'Day which opens September 19. This latest vehicle written for The Studio Theatre peers beneath the New York facade of the television world, and reveals the foibles of the off stage lives of the people involved. Its youthful author, playwright Jerry DeBono, speaks with experience and a knife sharp tongue about the blood sucking pastime of current America as he examines the TV scene and its creators. Mr. DeBono recently wrote for The Studio Theatre the successful revue 8 & Run, a delight to capacity audiences throughout the summer months.

William Graves, director of The Studio Theatre and the recent revue has cast his show with Monterey Peninsula actors, Betty Fowlston, Pat Rafferty, Neuri Arnold, Allen Graham, Cliff Berry and Jerry DeBono.

Helen Mueth

Mrs. Helen Mueth, mother of Harrison and Frederick Godwin, died in a Salinas hospital on September 5 after a brief illness.

She was born on March 18, 1878, in Lawrence, Massachusetts. In 1919 she moved to Carmel from Pasadena with her two sons. For many years she lived at La Playa Hotel, owned by her son Frederick, a former mayor of Carmel. Six years ago she moved to Pine Inn, owned by her other son, Harrison. Mrs. Mueth also had a summer home in Carmel Valley.

Survivors, besides her sons, are a brother, Dr. Frederick S. McKay of Colorado Springs, Colorado; two grandchildren, William Harrison Godwin Jr., and Sheila Godwin, both of Carmel; a great-grandson, William Harrison Godwin III of Carmel; and two nieces, Mrs. Roberta Lusardi of New York and Mrs. Helen Horchler of Cleveland, Ohio.

Friends wishing to honor the memory of Mrs. Mueth may do so in the form of donations to the New Peninsula Community Hospital Building Fund.

Monterey Peninsula Volunteer Services, at its meeting last Friday, voted to contribute $750 to the Community Chest and $250 to the Carmel Valley Little League.

August net receipts of $802.79 were reported by the Thrift Shop. Mrs. Gilbert F. Kinney, treasurer, stated that $60 had been turned in from the Wishing Well at the Highlands Inn, earmarked for the Family Service Agency.

A gay carnival spirit was encouraged by Mrs. Isabel Perry Bogges, chairman of the hospitality committee, who had decorated the table from which coffee was served before the meeting with a miniature carnival setting of booths, pond, tables, chairs, flower pots and people, made from red and white cardboard, colored pipe cleaners, tissue paper, and many other items. The replica will be on display in the window of Putnam and Raggett during the three-day sale of carnival tickets in front of the Carmel Bank on September 23, 24, 25.

Among the carnival booths will be the Treasure Chest, whose chairman, Mrs. Dorothy Bell, is assisted by Mmes. Sam Bonsall, Henry T. Chace, William F. Hutchinson, Josephine M. Johnson, W. M. McNamee, Francis Moulton, Mary Thomas, Charlotte Wight, Brayton Withrell, and the Misses Mary Margaret McIntire, Clara Weston and Jean Wilder. In this booth will be Georgian silver, china from England, pewter porridge spoons from New England, Chinese hand-carved buttons, straw bags from Madagascar and Egypt, costume jewelry from Siam, Canary Islands and Italy; silk and embroidered beanies from Persia and Italy; a Cluny lace luncheon set and table damask cloths from Ireland.

The beneficiaries of the Country Carnival on September 26 at the Rancho Del Monte will be the Carmel Foundation and the Family Service Agency, with perhaps another Peninsula charity sharing, according to Mrs. Archer Allen, president.

New Appointments Made To Committee For Water District

At the meeting of the committee to promote passage of the Monterey Peninsula Water District, Thursday evening, Tom May, Jr., Carmel Councilman and co-chairman, announced that J. J. van Loben Sels of Carmel, and Harold Saunders of Monterey have been named as members of the committee. Pacific Grove Councilman Ed Coffin, who is running unopposed as candidate for Director of the Pacific Grove Division of the Water Board, accepted the post as co-chairman of the committee, joining in that capacity Tom May and Monterey Councilman Marje Eliassen.

The committee went on record stating that it would wage a dignified campaign and would present the true facts concerning the water district to the people of the Monterey Peninsula in due course. Ed Coffin said that the people of the Peninsula would have "a lot more control over the water board, if created, than over the California Water and Telephone Company."

Tom May stressed that such controls included "the right of the Board of Supervisors to final approval of any tax rate, the right of recall, taxpayers' suits and the tradition of efficient operation enjoyed by other local districts."

Carmel residents wishing to offer their services in promoting passage of the district were invited to get in touch with John Melville (MA 4-4189) or Walt Pilot (MA 4-3194.)

The next meeting of the Committee will be held the evening of September 18 at 7:30 o'clock at the Pacific Grove City Hall. All those interested are invited to attend.

WINNING WEAVER EXHIBITS IN CARMEL LIBRARY

Mrs. Dora Crabtree, former president of Carmel Crafts Guild and one of its most active members, especially in the field of weaving, was chosen to exhibit this month at the Harrison Memorial Library. On display is the coat of handwoven material which won her a first and sweepstakes prize in weaving at the Monterey County Fair, where she also took two other first prizes and three seconds for handwoven articles displayed both in the Crafts and Home Economics shows.

The library exhibit takes the coat each step of the way from the raw wool, through combing, washing, dyeing and weaving, to the finished product, with pictures of Mrs. Crabtree spinning and weaving. Mrs. Crabtree started weaving six years ago as a pupil of Mrs. Helen Bennett, another active Peninsula weaver belonging to the Crafts Guild Weaving Section. Her current interest is her job as General Chairman of the Seventh Annual Northern Californian Hand Weavers' Conference to which the Weaving Section of the Guild is acting as host on May 2 and 3, 1959, some 900 to

Gunnar Norberg Still Trying On Chain Store Control

Gunnar Norberg reported, at last week's council meeting, that he preferred not to be a one-man committee to study chain store control. He has invited the citizens who had expressed enthusiasm for the project at the previous council meeting to work with him. They met and insisted that Councilman Norberg take the chairmanship. Admiral C. W. Fisher was appointed vice chairman and Ruth Mapstead, secretary.

Three subcommittees were set up. One, headed by Mr. Norberg and Admiral Fisher will study possibilities of control through a city ordinance that would limit business buildings in size to a lot of record (40 foot frontage), and revision of the city business license tax structure so that it would be progressive rather than recessive. Now, rates based on percentage of gross sales decrease in the upper brackets rather than increase. John Dallerup and Newell Davies will work with him.

H. L. Beshore is chairman of a subcommittee to assemble data in support of the citizens' contention that chain stores are detrimental to Carmel. Mrs. Grayce McKay, who said at last month's council meeting that chains can put pressure on jobbers to refuse to supply independent merchants, and cited cases, was appointed to assist him.

Col. W. W. Yalen, chairman; Harold Ireland and Col. G. B. Hazeltine are assigned to a third subcommittee to devise a resolution by which the council may go on record as to the attitude of the citizens of Carmel toward new chains being established here so that the city clerk may inform prospective chain operators. The council balked at its August meeting over passing such a resolution. This subcommittee is to find "more acceptable wording" for the resolution in the hope that the council will reconsider. They will also study the fields in which the state has pre-empted control from the cities.

1000 delegates expected.

President Roscoe Russell of the Craft Guild issues a special invitation to those interested in crafts to sample the next Guild meeting tomorrow night at 8:00 o'clock at the Art Association Gallery, when he and his wife will tell of crafts they saw on their eastern trip.

YEARS AGO TO PLAY ANOTHER WEEK END

The Golden Bough Circle Theatre has extended the run of its current hit, Years Ago, through September 13. The nostalgic comedy by actress Ruth Gordon tells of her youthful efforts to begin a stage career in the face of opposition from her salty, sea-faring father, who sees her as a future physical culture instructress. The period charm and warm-hearted humor of Miss Gordon's script have so appealed to Carmel audiences that it will run seven week ends instead of the usual six.

Good Cast, Direction In New Production At California First Theatre

BY MAX TADLOCK

It was an excellent cast under the splendidly paced direction of Charles Thomas that added another memorable performance Friday night to those which stand out in the First Theatre's repertoire. Deserted at the Altar is just the kind of show a reviewer would choose for friends who had never attended one of the Gold Coast Troupers' melodramas.

This play, one from the large George Poultney and Pierce Kinglet manuscript collection, offers not only the usual humor modern audiences derive from melodrama but a wealth of cracking good comedy dialogue, funny in any period.

Hero of the piece is city-slicker artist Frank Creighton. When he woos our little Nellie, he finds open opposition from her family and her foster brother to whom she is already bespoken. Hidden opposition comes unexpectedly from his erstwhile friend and hunting companion and from a former girl friend, both of whom are counterfeiters. "Are you a woman or a fiend?" he cries in horror, as bound with clanking chains in the counterfeiters' den, he rejects with manful pride his former ladylove's demands for "marriage or your life." Just in the nick of time, however, the forces of good arrive in the form of a government agent disguised as a soap salesman and two ragged but honest newsies, and all ends well.

Outstanding performances were the order of the night. Among them, Clifford Anderson as the king of the Counterfeiters, and Cleveland Dayton as the flamboyant government agent were especially noteworthy. Al Olinger as Frank Creighton was an earnest young man determined to change his ways from the path of dissolution. Wayne Edwards as Nellie's father gave his best theatrical performance to date. Le Roy Ottman played the foster brother Dave with a nice balance between youthfulness and manly determination. Carl Sesar's portrayal of the newsie Knuckles was delightful, as was Carl Sherman's portrayal of the sadistic character from the counterfeiting ring. Gordon Smith was properly other-worldly in a nice contrast with the attitude of those who were using him.

Distaff-wise acting honors were shared by Janet Fluehr as the lovely young Nellie, strong in her innocence, and by Gertrude Chappell as the beautiful but unscrupulous Mrs. Burgoyne, Queen of the Counterfeiters. Barbara Ziegweid as Knuckles' sweetheart was a charming hoyden. Madeleine Hicks as Nellie's mother and Florence Venn as the old hag in the counterfeiter's den showed that even the smaller roles command the stage when interpreted with talent. Gilda Dayton played the yokel girl, butt of the slickers' jokes.

As always, the olio performance was great fun, even for an audience already weak with laughter. Real show-stoppers were the barbershop quartet The Four Biddens called back for repeated encores despite the late hour.

HIKERS VISIT OUTLAW CAMP

Seventeen hikers, members of the Sierra Club and their guests, braved the threat of a continued storm Sunday morning to visit some of the Big Sur back country. Fortunately for the walkers, the rains stopped shortly before the trip was started and clear sky and a dustless trail added to the pleasure of the outing. Climbing over the 2700 foot summit of the outer Santa Lucia Range, the hikers reached Outlaw Camp at the head of Terrace Creek for lunch. This picturesque spot, with an old cabin under the redwoods near a cold spring, was at one time a Letter To Voters Opens Campaign Against Water Dist.

The Truth About Water Committee will attempt to reach every voter in Carmel with an array of facts showing why the proposed district should be turned down, according to Corum Jackson, Carmel chairman of the committee.

Opening gun of the local campaign was a letter to every Carmel family signed by Dan Searle, area wide chairman of the Truth About Water Committee.

Jackson said Searle would also address the Carmel Business Association tonight (Thursday, September 11) in the first speech to be made here opposing the district.

On Tuesday evening, Sept. 16, Hal Hallett, Monterey businessman, will speak in opposition to the district before the Carmel Business and Professional Women's Club at the Cypress West.

In the letter to local residents, the committee said its members opposed formation of the water district because "the future result will be millions of bonded debt, greatly increased taxes, and higher water rates."

Speaking of the district's promoters, the letter said: "They openly can't offer cheaper rates. And we are certain that the amount of the bond issue they will have to submit will be so high that increased water rates will be required to pay bond charges."

hideout for poachers and other law violators.

Local people participating in the walk included Miss Kathleen Andrews and Roger Greenwald of Monterey, and from Carmel were Miss Olive Williams, Bob De Yoe and Fremont Ballou, who acted as hike leader for the Loma Prieta Chapter, which sponsored the outing.

REMEMBERED FROM THE 'TWENTIES

*At length Time circled to the hour
When the being revolted at emptiness:
The emptiness of a marionette,
Whose head and arms and legs were jerked
By strings of the current mores;
Whose enameled stare mirrored no dream.*

*The struck hour led to a haven of silent hills,
And eyes awoke to vision.
A close look at rock, bare under the wind's knife;
A far look to peaks angled cleanly across the sky:
There was immersion in the near and the far
Until the empty reaches of being Welled to the brim with the cool waters of solitude.*

—VERA T. MARSHALL.

AUTUMN TOLD ME

*I wandered up a long, hill path
That climbed toward flaming sunset skies;
Where wild grape tangles tinged the air
With musty sweetness; — there arise
The yellow aspen and red scrub-oak,
Hovering small life with meager shade;
While rifling through the taller pines
Thin shafts of slanting sunlight played.
Softly the haze of harvest air
Prophesied the winter's sleep;
As flaming sumac and golden-rod
Vied with the color of bitter-sweet,
As if to hoard that which summer lost
To the grasping fingers of early frost.*

—GRACE R. BALLARD.

FIRST TIME

*There is a first time for each thing,
The earliest cherry bloom in Spring,
The primary Saturnian ring,*

*The initial throb of love in the heart,
A cataract's long gushing start,
Or thought at its impulsive start.*

*Yet these so gradually emerge,
A climbing era's mighty surge,
And war's disastrous dark urge,*

*They seem intangibly to blend
With verities whose cosmic trend
Has neither a beginning nor an end.*

How to do it better with WATER

POOLS FOR FUN....

FOR FISH....

FOR BEAUTY

A wading pool for the children, a fishpond or birdbath... just a few of the decorative and recreational aspects of water that can add so much to the beauties and pleasure of your home. Birdbaths and wading pools should be drained and cleaned regularly. A cloth "skimmer" on the end of a stick is useful in keeping surface water clean between drainings. Fishponds, if balanced with snails, scavenger fish and water plants, will remain clean and free of algae.

Your garden pool is not the only place where algae grows. The clean, sparkling water that runs fresh into your home is not water as it is found in nature. Much of the equipment, time and talents of the men and women of California Water & Telephone Company go into protecting and testing of the water that you will use. Through their constant efforts you are guaranteed a supply of water that is potable and, above all, safe.

Gilbert Boyer Reports Adventures In Mexico

In last issue, Gilbert Boyer in a letter to The Pine Cone described his work at the literacy center at Valle de Bravo in Mexico. Following is the account of his drive from Carmel to the center.

PART II.

Our oldest son had a summer job and his own apartment in Monterey and our daughter was working and living at Big Sur, so our family counted three of us, our youngest son, 13, and ourselves.

Upon leaving Carmel we passed through the hot country: Bak-ersfield, El Centro, Tucson, down to Nogales on the Mexican border, a trip of about 800 miles in temperature over 100 degrees all the time. We had turned in our small Volkswagen for a Volkswagen Combi-bus so that we could eat and sleep right in the bus when it seemed advisable. It worked out beautifully. There was just room for three air mattresses at night and during the day they were placed up over our heads on slats so that they were out of the way. This saved us having to blow them up every night and let the air out every day. A bridge table was put up and left up for the whole trip, and Louise frequently made our meals on the table as we were traveling. This worked out very well. We also took along a few folding chairs just in case we needed them. We did not have the regular seats put in the bus which left us much more room. It is practically a trailer without being one.

Crossing the border held no complications as we had our Mexican visas signed and approved by the Mexican consulate in San Francisco, also our health certificates. Taking out Mexican insurance on the border caused about one hour's delay, also last minute shopping for fruit juices, canned foods, powdered milk, and a large 5 gallon bottle of pure water, but we have not regretted a minute of it, as the food and water was so helpful in traveling, particularly where one is cautioned against milk, butter and water in Mexico, as well as fruits or vegetables which cannot be peeled. The AAA was most helpful in Nogales, both with insurance and changing some American money to pesos. They also gave us helpful hints and answered most graciously innumerable questions.

Finally we were headed for Hermosillo where we planned to spend the night. On the way we passed four inspection stations at which our papers were examined. These inspection stations ranged from four miles across the border to over 100 miles into Mexico on Route 15.

The country is desert-like, and most of the Mexican houses are made of straw except in the villages. The frequent signs "Cuidado con el ganado" — Careful of the cattle — had to be taken literally because many times we had to stop for cattle or donkeys on the road. Another surprising thing, in the middle of nowhere, we would come across groups of Mexicans standing by the side of the road or sitting or half sitting on the edge of the road.

The daily thunder shower came up about 5:00 o'clock. This turned out to be a triple header with dark masses of clouds to the east, west and north. I have never seen so much lightning at one time. It was like a fourth of July night all over the sky with triple chains of lightning. Then it seemed to clear up, and there was the most beautiful and largest, clearly defined triple rainbow we had ever seen in our experience. The sky was like magic. It was unearthly. This celestial interlude was short-lived as we were arriving in Hermosillo shortly after dark, thinking, "Ah so many electric lights!" when there was a deafening crash of thunder and dazzling lightning, then complete blackness with a stress on black. The rain came flooding down. With effort we located a gas station which happened to be the trailer camp for which we were looking. We sat in the dark for an hour until the rain let up and then were given a trailer location for our bus. Each trailer location was assigned a beautiful bathroom of genuine white tile. There was a large building housing nothing but these very elaborate polished private bathrooms, one for each trailer.

We continued next day through desert country with thatched-but villages from time to time and always cattle. Guaymas, a village on the coast of the Gulf of Mexico, was interesting but very hot. Continuing on through many towns and cities, many with interesting old colonial buildings and churches, we began to get into beautiful flowering tropical country. Reaching Mazatlan after a few days was like finding oneself in the South Seas as I have always imagined it. Beautiful white beaches sheltered by large green islands off the coast, thatched beach houses, large waves, interesting villages and an old very historic-looking town. After Mazatlan, we began to climb, reaching in the next few days 10,000 feet in many places. As we climbed higher the architecture became more permanent looking. Adobe brick houses, walls and enclosed courtyards, always with beautiful red-tiled roofs.

Gualadajara is a fascinating, gracious, colonial city of large estates and modern living, very cosmopolitan and expensive, a truly wonderful city. While there I heard the Guadalajara Symphony rehearsing the Sibelius Second Symphony, very good, too. After eight days, we reached Valle de Bravo, about 80 miles west of Mexico City. It is a beautiful town of 4500 people, nestled high in a valley in the mountains, with a beautiful lake and many mountain peaks all around. We are over a mile above sea level.

Edward Kuster To Act And Direct In Circle Theatre Play

September 19 will see the return of Edward Kuster to the stage of the Golden Bough Circle Theatre, from which he has been absent since the 1956 production of The Happy Time. Mr. Kuster will both direct and act in a new English comedy entitled Plaintiff in a Pretty Hat.

During a recent stay in London, Kuster saw and admired actor Hugh Williams in the play, which was written by Williams in collaboration with his wife, Margaret. Determined to import the comedy to America, Kuster secured not only the production rights, but a number of peculiarly English properties, such as a set of London telephone books, as well as recordings of music from the original production.

Not satisfied with bringing so much of England to the Carmel theatre, the director next assembled a group of British actors to fill out the cast. He is currently hard at work in an effort to master the accent of the Welsh gamblers for he himself will play when Plaintiff begins its six-week run at the Circle.

Edward Kuster founded the original Golden Bough in Carmel thirty-four years ago, and directed plays here regularly until 1949. He served as supervising director of the Golden Bough Circle Theatre during the first four years of its operation, and acted in the Circle before his departure for Europe in 1956.

Those who remember his performance as Grandpere in The Happy Time, as well as his earlier successes in such plays as The Man Who Came to Dinner, Counsellor at Law and They Knew What They Wanted, will look forward to seeing him once more on the stage.

Gentlemen:

Re: Village Forest

One item seems to be lacking in all this talk about reforestation of our village.

Residential lots are roughly in three classes.

A—View lots

B—Would be view lots if there were a little skillful trimming westward.

C—Never can be view lots.

With A in mind PLEASE don't let anyone plant Pines or Eucalyptus in front. We have a lot of trees that will never interfere with views or need only a small amount of trimming. Oaks, Cypress, Toyon, Pittosporum, black acacia, even red flowering Euc.

Sitting in a real view window, at this moment I can see five cypress trees (on the dunes) that would help my seeing the horizon, if properly topped. ONE was so topped several years ago and is still out of the way. Remember these trees were planted some 40 years ago.

Yours for better trees for all.
ABBOTT SILVA,
Insulting forester.

Board Calls For Bids, Opens Bids Considers A Bus

The Carmel School District Board approved a call for bids for grading at the Carmel Woods Elementary School Site (see legal page this issue) at its Thursday evening meeting last week. They also awarded contract to Harold C. Geyer for construction of a new shop building at Carmel High School, $55,500, plus $1,100 for shake roof. Architect's estimate was $64,400.

There were five other bids, ranging from Jake Huizenga's $56,888 to Helm-Savolki's $63,000.

Transportation Manager Ed Goodrick, Board Member C. W. Yates and Superintendent Stuart Mitchell were appointed a committee with power to act on the offer of the Crown Coach Corp. of a 1947 model used, 40 passenger bus for $1,050. It is needed to transport 14 seniors to Monterey High and as a stand-by unit in case of breakdown of any of the district's seven busses. The new 91 passenger bus, bought out of recently voted over-ride tax, will carry high school students from the valley to Carmel. Two busses will be used for Tularcitos School, one for Carmelo; two to transport students from Pebble Beach and the Highlands, and a station wagon goes into the Jamesburg area.

Board members were cheered when one of their members, Mrs. Julian von Meier, after some pencil work, announced that the $400 estimated tuition and transportation cost per pupil for the district's seniors who wish to attend Monterey High School is $100 per pupil less than the cost of educating them at Carmel High School.

Small and large printing orders are quickly filled at The Pine Cone Press. Dial Carmel MA 4-3881.

Polly Gann Back From Sweden

"I can speak some Swedish, understand more, and everyone speaks English, anyway, as it is a required subject for seven years in the Swedish schools," said Polly Gann just back from living all summer with a Swedish family on the seacoast near Goteburg. She was Carmel High School's American Field Service exchange student.

"My older sister," continued Polly, referring to Ann, member of the Swedish family with whom she stayed, "spoke English perfectly, as well as French, Spanish and German, and knew Latin, too. Gives one some sort of an inferiority complex," she added.

Besides living with "her family" Polly was also bridesmaid when her older brother, George, married Karen Galassi of Rome in Denmark. The wedding reception was held aboard the brigantine Albatros, sailed to Europe this summer by Ernest K. Gann, Polly and George's father, with Stephen Gann and Deen Rowe of Carmel as members of the crew.

Gemma Nesbitt, daughter of the late Phil Nesbitt of Carmel and Lady Faith Culme-Seymour of Market Harborough, has come from England to spend several months visiting in Carmel with her grandmother, Mrs. Elizabeth Nesbitt, and her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. John Nesbitt. This is Gemma's first visit to America and the first time she has met her American relatives including cousins Michael, Penny and Joe Nesbitt.

After she leaves Carmel, Gemma expects to meet her mother and stepfather, Sir Michael Culme-Seymour, in New York and see the Eastern United States.

Birthday Party For Nancy

Nancy Lofton was surprised on Thursday evening of last week when friends, at the invitation of her mother Mrs. Richard Lofton, called at the Lofton home to wish her a happy seventeenth birthday. It was also an occasion for the guests to wish her farewell, as, on Sunday, Nancy flies to Birmingham, Alabama, to meet her aunt, Miss Mary Lofton. Together they will fly to Washington, D.C. to visit other relatives, one of whom will drive Nancy to Annapolis, Maryland, on Thursday morning to enter St. John's College.

Sharing birthday cake with Nancy last Thursday were Captain James Coleman, USN, of Columbia, South Carolina, and Mrs. Coleman who is Richard Lofton's cousin. They stopped in Carmel on the way to Captain Coleman's new station in San Diego.

Others from out of town at the party were Mrs. Ethelfleda Mordecia Labadie of Madera, Erin Black of Sonoma, Tam McPhail of San Diego, Mrs. Marie Yerkes and her son Chuck from Los Angeles, Jojo Arnow of San Francisco, and Harvard sophomore Gregson Davis of Antigua, B.W.I.

Local friends of Nancy present were Oliver Wilgress, John Williams, Leon Zaragosa, Neil Giarratana, Boz Williams, Andrew Miller, Alice Williams, Alison Miller, Honey and Molly Williams, Penny and Joe Nesbitt, Lucinda Lloyd, Nancy Baxter, Mrs. Valentine Miller, Dr. and Mrs. Russell Williams, Mr. and Mrs. Laidlaw Williams and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lloyd.

Lighted Japanese lanterns, hung in a large oak tree, lighted guests up the garden paths to the door. Melissa, Nancy's younger sister, helped Mrs. Lofton with party preparations.

Barbara O'Neil Visits Mother

Mrs. David O'Neil has her daughter Barbara visiting her for ten days. Barbara came here from four weeks in Central City, Colorado, where she had a part in a prize winning play written by Colorado poet Thomas Ferril. The play, with a mining camp background, was performed in the old opera house in Central City. The production was a precentennial presentation for the State of Colorado which, next year, will be a hundred years old.

Barbara flew to Central City from Europe with a short stop at her home in Connecticut. She had just finished two enjoyable weeks exploring "the dour, lonely, arid country of Greece." Before her Grecian vacation she had been in Rome since May 1 playing the part of Mother Catherine in the Warner Bros. picture, The Nun's Story, starring Katherine Hepburn and directed by Fred Zimmerman. After she leaves Carmel, Barbara goes to Hollywood to consult about a part in another Warner Bros. picture.

Mr. and Mrs. J. P. McNeill have both a granddaughter and a grandson since September 3 when seven-and-a-half-pound James Robertson McNeill was born in the University of California Medical Center hospital in San Francisco. His parents are Legare and Leslie McNeill and his maternal grandmother is Mrs. B. V. Clark of San Francisco. The baby was given James for his first name in honor of his Grandfather McNeill. On his mother's side of the family he is a fifth generation Californian.

His father enters the University of California Medical School this month, so young James will live in San Francisco. Also in the city are his uncle and aunt, James (Jim) and Vicki McNeill and his cousin, Ann. Jim, who graduated from the University of California Medical School in June, is interning this year at the Southern Pacific Hospital in San Francisco.

The Girl Scout House has been redecorated by about 30 girls and mothers during the past three weeks. Organizations outside of scouting are welcome to use the Scout House when it is not being used by scouts. Anyone interested may telephone Mrs. Frederic Rainer, corresponding secretary, at MA 4-7565 to make arrangements.

The Sullivans have over two hundred rare and beautiful art objects which they collected during 1948 and 1949 when Mr. Sullivan was on military duty at the Port of Yokohama. They had them duly authenticated by experts in oriental art. Many of them are museum pieces because of their antiquity, beauty, and rarity.

Transportation from the Church of the Wayfarer will be furnished in the afternoon for those not having their own cars. Signs will direct cars to the Sullivan home on Mar Vista Drive.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERMON

Recognition that true substance is spiritual brings individual growth and progress — this fact will be stressed at Christian Science services Sunday.

Bible readings in the Lesson-Sermon on "Substance" will include the following (I John 2:15): "Love not the world, neither the things that are in the world. If any man love the world, the love of the Father is not in him."

A correlative passage from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy includes this (239:16-18,20): "To ascertain our progress, we must learn where our affections are placed and whom we acknowledge and obey as God. . . . The objects we pursue and the spirit we manifest reveal our standpoint, and show what we are winning."

The Golden Text is from II Corinthians (4:18): "The things which are seen are temporal; but the things which are not seen are eternal."

clause permitting owners of multiple dwellings, prior to September 1, 1958, to rebuild, if their property should be burned or otherwise destroyed. Eben Whittlesey also supported this 60-40 variant and received applause at the end of his speech defending the small, long-time multiple dwelling owner against speculative motel investors.

As the amendment is an urgency measure the council may call a special meeting to consider the C-2 Property Owners' suggested change to the interim zoning ordinance. If they approve it at the first reading, the amendment can become effective after the second reading five days later. If they consider the C-2 Owners' amendment in their regular session on October 8, the second reading can be on October 13 and, if again approved, the amendment would then be law.

Because the planning commission made no report yesterday on the two 60-40 variant-grandfather clause amendments, council action on these cannot take place until after 40 days from August 27, date the council sent the amendments to the commission for public hearing.

The commission modified the C-2 Property Owners amendment by making density of population, both in the immediate vicinity and in the general area, a primary consideration for any multiple dwelling structure building permit. They also inserted "suitable," instead of "adequate," in the clause governing provisions for permanent landscaping, open spaces and setbacks.

The commission favored this amendment as giving them the greatest control over future multiple dwellings. The grandfather clause in this measure only governs use of property. Any owner having a multiple dwelling prior to October 31, 1955, may alter or rebuild it, if destroyed, but must first have the planning commissioners approve appearance, color, design and population density. Off-street parking and/or loading zones must be provided with the planning commission deciding the amount in relation to type of business, location, size and topography of site; existing density of permanent-type construction in immediate vicinity; and width and classification of street upon which the site abuts.

All the above considerations also govern new multiple dwellings.

In addition, the C-2 amendment provides that a planning commission resolution granting a multiple dwelling building permit, shall specify type and acceptability of use, specific parking and/or loading zone requirements, approval of appearance of the proposed building and conditions or requirements needed to assure the owner he conforms with commission demands, and requirements for setbacks, open space and landscaping.

The resolution, defining all the above requirements, to be part of each building permit issued.

Any planning commission decision about multiple buildings may be appealed to the city council by the owner.

Citizens Asked To Organize

implement this Master Plan as soon as possible. Our interim zoning ordinance expires December 31, 1958.

Obtain the cooperation and assistance of the Monterey County Supervisors and Planning Agencies.

Obtain the cooperation and assistance of our surrounding "unincorporated" areas through annexation or otherwise. In these areas lie the possibility of invasion by heavy industry, large research laboratories operating 24 hours a day, and large motels and apartments, etc.

Adopt every available means to preserve Carmel and prevent it from being a "Tourist Mecca."

In carrying out these steps we are in favor of the following elements as part thereof:

That the existing commercial C-1 and C-2 zones of the Village be not enlarged.

That structures in C-1 and C-2 zones be controlled as to size, height, ground coverage, setback, architecture and color and have reasonable landscaping.

That the City adopt a policy of acquiring from time to time, off-street parking lots for metered parking, with suitable landscaping.

That, just as our ordinance now prohibits certain objectionable land uses anywhere in Carmel, we limit the number of certain other land uses wherever needed to preserve Carmel's essential residential character.

That we consider the use of our licensing, taxing and zoning power to discourage big business from invading Carmel.

That we favor only two limited commercial areas (shopping centers) in our zone of interest outside our city limits; namely, one

Absent from the list of witnesses is the name of Deputy Coroner Wallace.

Coroner Hill will preside; the district attorney's office will be represented by Angelo Palmieri.

The jury which Coroner Hill has selected: Mary Clayton, Carmel School District nurse; Mrs. Louise Pollock, Horace Lyon, John R. Dallerup, Fred Phillips, Frances Studevant, Lance Baird, Elizabeth Bannerman, William Walker, Robert Cairns, Jack Kirk and Donald Neher.

The jury will decide if death was the result of foul play, suicide, natural causes or accident.
